PROBABLE CAUSE STATEMENT:

Your affiant bases probable cause on the following:

The statement of Ricky Norton to Detective Cathy Schoney of the Salt Lake City Police Department that on July 16, 2006, his five-year-old daughter, D.N. went into the backyard of their residence to play at approximately 8:00 p.m. When Mr. Norton later looked for her, he could not find her.

The statement of Agent Steven F. Fillerup of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that he interviewed the defendant, Craig Roger Gregerson, on July 24, 2006. The defendant resides at 518 Elwood Place in Salt Lake County, Utah. The defendant's residence is approximately fifty feet east of the Nortons' home, and is situated on the same plot of land. The defendant stated that on July 16, 2006, he observed D.N. playing in her backyard. The defendant approached D.N. and spoke with her, then persuaded her to come inside his residence.

The defendant stated that once she was inside the defendant's residence, D.N. wanted to leave and became very vocal. The defendant placed his hand over D.N.'s mouth and squeezed. D.N. went limp.

The defendant stated that he took D.N.'s deceased body into his basement and later engaged in sexual activity with D.N.'s body. D.N. was discovered in the defendant's basement by officers with the Salt Lake City Police Department on July 24, 2006. The body was well concealed in a storage container.

The statements of Ricky Norton and Rachel Norton that they did not socialize with the defendant, and did not give him permission to remove D.N. from their backyard and take her into his residence.

The statement of Todd Grey, Chief Medical Examiner for the State of Utah, that he performed an autopsy on D.N.'s body on July 25, 2006. Dr. Grey opined that the manner of D.N.'s death was homicide, and that the cause of death was consistent with smothering. Dr. Grey also observed injuries consistent with post-mortem vaginal penetration of D.N.
