

Pitezel Was Once a Detective.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 21.—Four years ago B. F. Pitezel, who figures in the Philadelphia insurance swindle for which H. H. Holmes is now locked up, was a resident of this city. He, with John Carpenter, operated a detective agency and made a number of clever captures. Pitezel worked up a puzzling case at Garden City, Iowa, and arrested one of the citizens who fired the place and killed an officer while escaping. He left a large number of unpaid bills.

The New York Times

Published: November 22, 1894
Copyright © The New York Times